

MANDOLINO CRUISER

BOAT TYPE: Cruising Sailboat

INTRO:

MANDOLINO is an elegant, classical seaworthy small boat that we propose in two versions, one for day-sailing and one for cruising.

DESCRIPTION:

The cruiser version of the MANDOLINO shows an excellent comfort for a boat of this size, thanks to the high freeboard and a deckhouse. It has an internally height of 1,60 m. As for construction, we have foreseen two different methods, which differ from each other for difficulty of construction and for aesthetic results. Both systems are carried out in strip planking but, while the first is - with some variants - substantially classical strip planking, which foresees an internal wooden structure (very much simplified compared to a classical construction, but still quite long to realize), the latter represents the so called "composite strip planking", wholly comparable to a modern sandwich construction, in which the internal structure is reduced to the minimum (practically, made up only of bulkheads).
